

Advancing a Hawaii Green Amendment Ensuring an Enforceable Right to a Clean & Healthy Environment

A Green Constitutional Amendment added to the Hawaii Bill of Rights will help strengthen environmental protection, environmental justice, climate protection, and strengthen protection for the human health benefits of a clean and healthy environment in Hawaii.

Article 1 recognition and protection of environmental rights will:

- ✓ ...Place the rights to clean water and air, healthy native ecosystems and beaches, to the health benefits of healthy environments and climate, legally on par with other fundamental rights, including property rights.
- ✓ ... Ensure government decisions and action prioritize environmental protection and pollution prevention in order to ensure environmental rights protection and advance environmental justice;
- ✓ ... Ensure that every government official in the state will work to advance environmental protection at every level of the decisionmaking process, rather than waiting until the end of the process when the focus is necessarily on permitting rather than prevention.
- ✓ ... Fill the gaps in environmental laws and provide a legal basis for securing water, air and environmental protection even in those situations where there is no state law or regulation to provide protection;
- ✓ ... Strengthen environmental justice by ensuring all communities – regardless of race, ethnicity or socioeconomic status – have the same rights to a clean and healthy environment, thereby ensuring government officials protect all communities equitably;
- ✓ ... Secure environmental decisionmaking that considers and protects the rights of future generations to a healthy environment that ensures their future safety, security and health, including physically as well as economically;
- ✓ ... Ensure consideration of existing environmental conditions and cumulative impacts as part of decisionmaking so the additive impact of new pollution/degradation is considered;

Proposed Hawaii Green Amendment Language:

Article I of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii is amended by adding a new section to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

ENVIRONMENTAL RIGHTS

Section . The inherent and inalienable right of the people, including present and future generations, to clean water and air, a healthful environment and climate, healthy native ecosystems, and beaches, shall be protected and shall not be infringed.

- √ ... Empower communities to address unconstitutional infringement on environmental rights such as clean water and air, by providing constitutional grounding for their advocacy and access to the courts for redress;
- √ ... Strengthen the healthy economic growth that avoids the costs of environmental harm including illness, cleanup costs, flooding, drought and declining property values by ensuring government laws, regulations, decisions, permits and actions avoid environmental degradation rather than responding to it after-the-fact;
- √ ... Ensure that in those instances when government does knowingly infringe on environmental rights there is a compelling state interest and there has been a conscious effort to minimize the impacts on the right, i.e., minimize environmental harm;
- √ ... Ensure government and business seek to advance environmentally sustainable and protective business, development and industry operations.

While the amendment will be a tool to prevent environmental harm, it will also provide legislators and regulators constitutional grounding upon which to advance positive and strengthened environmental protections;

While Article XI, Section 1 of the Hawaii Constitution recognizes that the State holds public natural resources—including land, water, air, minerals and energy sources—in trust for the benefit of all people;¹ the individual right to a clean and healthy environment found in Article XI, Section 9² is limited to those protections provided by legislation, rather than being a true right of, by and for the people. In addition, its placement in Article XI versus Article 1 means it is not legally on par with other fundamental rights; and thereby can be subject to different legal standards of protection.

Adding a Bill of Rights amendment – a Green Constitutional Amendment - that recognizes and protects the rights of all Hawaiians to clean water and air and healthy native ecosystems will strengthen environmental protection, environmental justice, protection of the health benefits of the environment, and the rights of future generations to a healthy environment, will ensure government focus on prevention of environmental harm, and will strengthen the ability for communities to hold government accountable when environmental rights are violated.

² Hawaii Constitution, Article XI, Section 9: Each person has the right to a clean and healthful environment, as defined by laws relating to environmental quality, including control of pollution and conservation, protection and enhancement of natural resources. Any person may enforce this right against any party, public or private, through appropriate legal proceedings, subject to reasonable limitations and regulation as provided by law.
